OFFICIAL PAUL PRYS.

POSTAL SNEAK THIEVES OF THE FRENCH GOVERNMENT.

Delicate Methods Employed by Them In Opening Letters—With a Little Patience They Overcome Gum, Sealing Wax or Metal Fastener.

The incident which occurred in the French chamber concerning the violation of the secrecy of a letter addressed to M. Delcasse by a high official of the ministry of marine has stirred the public, which is surprised that such proceedings take place under the third republic. Created in 1880, the cabinet noir was a permanent office under Louis Philippe and Napoleon III, who used and abused it in order to learn the political secrets of their opponents. It was generally believed by the public that the office had long been suppressed by the present government. But after the incident mentioned those who still believe in the secrecy of the post, of the telegraph or of the telephone exhibit an incredible credulity which is extremely rare at this fin de siecle. Those who are so imprudent as to write their inmost thoughts concerning any politician in power will be wise no longer to imagine that a letter which arrives at its destination apparently unopened has not been read by a third party. As is well known, it is also easy for an official to learn the secrets of the telephone by applying his ear to the receivers at the central office, and by so doing to intercept phrases which are both instructive and amusing. It now appears that the postoffice officials also give themselves up to the delicate pleasure of satisfying their curiosity.

They employ 20 different methods in order to assuage their professional inquisitiveness. If an envelope is closed in the ordinary manner by a thin layer of gum, they have the choice of two systems—when the paper is tough and strong they slip with great precaution a very thin but not cutting blade between the two gummed parts, and with a little practice they are soon able to separate the paper without any tear; when the envelope is thin and brittle they open it by the primitive and homely means of steam. These proceedings are extremely simple, and the correspondence of many masters and mistresses has often been slyly treated in the same way by an inquisitive domestic. This industry requires very little skill, and the only capital necessary is a small amount of patience. The more suspicious individuals fasten their letters with sealing wax and imagine that they are consequently perfectly safe from any surreptitious attack. The officials of the cabinet noir, however, are not so easily defeated. By judiciously bending and twisting the part of the paper surrounding the seal they gradually detach the latter, which finally remains unbroken in their hands with a very thin layer of paper adhering to it. After examining the contents of the letter they replace the seal intact at the exact place which it previously occupied, and both the sender and receiver of the letter remain in blissful ignorance of their maneuvers.

Other correspondents, even more suspicious, are not satisfied with gum and wax, but supplement them by a small metal fastener, which is guaranteed by its inventor to render any tampering with a letter impossible. This, although its efficacy is far from that promised by the stationers, certainly complicates the work of the intruding official. He rises to the circumstance, however, and after carefully removing the stamp and making a cross cut on the square from which it has been removed he introduces a small steel instrument with a special hook at the extremity. This hook grips a corner of the letter, and by carefully twisting the sheet round the stem of the instrument it can be finally extracted without any apparent injury. If by chance the note paper is refractory and cannot be twisted owing to its stoutness, the operator cuts the entire length of one side of the envelope. The contents are easily obtained in this manner, but the reclosing of the envelope requires much delicacy of workmanship and is, in fact, almost worthy of an artist. About a millimeter of each of the cut edges is carefully folded inward, gummed and pressed together until dry. This phase of the work, although rather difficult to a novice, is soon acquired by practice.

There are many other tricks employed, some of which speak volumes for human ingenuity. It sometimes happens, nevertheless, that a letter baffles all the skill and experience of the entire department. In that case their means are rough and ready—they suppress it altogether. The exterior appearance of the letter addressed to M. Delcasse betrayed the work of the Cabinet Noir. This proves not lack of skill of those intrusted with such an important but underhand duty, but simply negligence.—London Globe.

His Pointer.

An eminent judge, being asked how he could turn with such facility from one case to another, replied:

"I learned that from what I saw at a colored baptism when I was a boy. The weather was very cold, so that to immerse it was necessary to cut away the ice. When one of the female candidates was dipped back in the water, the cold made her squirm so that she slipped from the minister's hands and went down the stream under the ice. Looking up with perfect calmness at the throng on the bank, the minister said:

"'Brethren, this sister hath departed. Hand me down another.'"—Brooklyn Citizen.

Uses of Luggage.

"Isn't it possible to travel abroad with less luggage?"

"What would you do? You can't get them to paste the labels in a scrapbook."—Detroit Journal.

The Trans-Mississippi and International Congress is composed of delegates from every State and Territory West of the Mississippi river. The idea of this exposition originated in that Congress at its session at Omaha in 1895, and the project has become a National enterprise and the National Commission has been organized and is in active service, there being one commissioner for each of the several departments of the Government. Most of the Trans-Mississippi States are well along in the way of gathering exhibits from their respective States and many of them have made liberal appropriations, while others are preparing exhibits through private enterprise.

Vice-President H. B. Maxson of Reno, has made arrangements whereby he can get Nevada exhibits, shipped from any point in the State along the line of the C. P. R. R. to Omaha and return, and he requests all persons who wish the interests of the State advertised, to co-operate with the Exposition County Commissioner of his county, whose name is shown above, and prepare some product of his county and send it to the nearest point on the C. P. R. R. from which place it will be sent to Omaha and exhibited, and returned to the same point at the close of the exposition, free of expense to the exhibitor. Full information should accompany everything sent for exhibition. Before sending anything to the line of the railroad a full description should be given the Exposition Commissioner of the county, who in turn will notify the Vice-President, who will notify him what action to take, otherwise there might be many duplications. Apply to your County Representative for further information, and don't let this opportunity of advertising the resources of Nevada be lost.

GREED AGAINST PATRIOTISM.

The Silver-Knight has the following, which every person who thinks and is not connected with the greedy cormorants, who want interest bearing bonds issued that they may fatten at the expense of the public, will indorse:

The interest bearing debt on the 1st of July, 1878, was $1,794,735,650. On the 1st of July, 1893, the interest bearing debt was $585,037,100. A reduction was made, by payment on the debt during the fourteen years in which $500,000,000 of new money was put in circulation under the Bland-Allison Act of 1878 and the Sherman Act of 1890, of $1,209,693,550, and during that same period $60,125,218 98 was paid in premiums to buy in bonds, making an aggregate of principle and premiums besides interest paid on the public debt while the volume of money was being enlarged by silver, of $1,269,823,768 98, or very nearly $100,000,000 a year of surplus over taxation applied on the debt. Since 1893, a period of less than five years, when no new money was added to the public debt $262 329,910, notwithstanding the Union Pacific Railroad has paid in $58,448,223 75, showing a falling off in the revenue to meet current expenses of about $70,000,000 a year.

Nothing could more completely illustrate the beneficial effects of a constant supply of new money, and the disaster of contraction resulting from the growth of population without a corresponding addition to the volume of the circulation. When we consider the surplus while new money was furnished, and the deficit after the repeal of the Sherman Act, we see that the difference between a constant supply of money and the failure of such supply has been about $150,000,000 a year.

Apply this to the War Revenue bill. The House proposes an issue of $500,000,000 of bonds to sell and buy gold to prosecute the war. This would make times hard and reduce the revenue enormously. The majority of the Senate Finance Committee propose to issue $150,000,000 of greenbacks and $42,000,000 of silver certificates or the silver seigniorage in the treasury, making an addition of $192,000,000 to the circulating medium. This $192,000,000 would add to the revenues of the Government by increased prosperity at least $200,000,000 in the next fiscal year, and add to the wealth of the country several thousand millions, whereas the House plan would diminish the revenues and entail a permanent debt of $500,000,000. The House plan is the bondholder's plan; the Senate plan is the people's plan. The people's plan will furnish more ready cash for the war and prosperity for the masses. The bondholders' plan will furnish less money, but more debt and more disaster. The question is, have the people any rights which the bondholders are bound to respect?

THE SCHOOL TRUSTEES.

The election of School Trustees for long and short term took place yesterday. Two tickets were named, regardless of politics, all good men, and the only question that seemed to be considered at all was the one of School Principal. Without commenting on the ability of any of the applicants for this position, yesterday's election was a very emphatic approval of the management of the present Board of School Trustees and a decided expression against petty bickerings and personalities.

The minority, however, demonstrated that they had a "kick coming" and although of no great magnitude it served to illustrate that differences of opinion exist even in school matters, notwithstanding the efforts to keep such affairs out of the filthy pool of politics.

To Organize a Red Cross Society

A meeting of ladies will be held tomorrow (Wednesday) afternoon at 3 o'clock at the Congregational Church for the purpose of organizing a Red Cross Society. The ladies generally are invited to be present in order that the organization may be completed and at once co-operate with branches of the Society at Carson and other towns of the State.

Careless and reckless driving on Sunday caused Mrs. Davis, of Carson, to be knocked down with one of the bus teams. A complaint was entered at the City Council meeting last night and this menace to the lives of women and children on public occasions will be checked. Mrs Davis luckily escaped with a few bruises and cuts, but had she been killed it would have been termed an accident when in reality it was criminal carelessness.

FORT RUSSELL.

Warren G. Rice of Reno Writes of the Nevada.

In a letter to a friend, dated Fort Russell, Wyoming, May 17, 1898, Warren Rice says:

"Well, I have just passed another physical examination here at Fort Russell, and, I tell you it was severe. We were all examined by three doctors; the first one took our weights and heights, the second gave us an optical examination, and the third gave us an examination that could be called general.

"I got this far when it was announced that Colonel Terry was coming and it didn't take me long to drop everything. He has just finished making a speech and of all the men I ever met, he is the one whom I would choose to go to the front under.

He told us that he believed as sure as the sun would rise to-morrow, that we would see hard service. He said, "I went to the President and said we have men in the west who do not belong to the National Guard, but are anxious to go to the front."

It is through his efforts we are here. Again he said, "I believe that the red of the flag is to be dyed redder than ever by the blood of patriots who are willing to lay down their lives for the sake of freedom and a just cause, and some of those patriots I believe will be some of the comrades now grouped around me. Now, for God's sake, if there is a man present who isn't willing to go to the front and lay down his life if necessary, let him say so and I will pay his fare back to Nevada." Not a man moved.

He had full authority to recommend our officers to the Secretary of War, but he let us ballot for the ones we desired recommended.

I was detailed for kitchen duty the first thing when we arrived here but my time is up now, so I am at liberty again. I can't say that I enjoy helping get meals ready for eighty-four hungry men. I had rather fight Spaniards.

We are commencing to experience some of the hardships of a soldier already. It is cold here and we get pretty hungry at times. Every scrap from the table is saved for the next meal. Black coffee, potatoes, bacon and worse than hard tack is our fare. But I am not complaining. I expect worse than that. To-morrow we expect to get thrown out in the rain to camp. At present we are garrisoned in the barracks.

The fort is situated about three miles from Cheyenne on a slight elevation of ground. I have not visited the city yet, but judging from what I can see from here it isn't very large.

It is a rolling prairie country here and the prairie dogs are quite a curiosity to most of us. We received great send offs at every little station and town along the road. We took breakfast the first morning at Elko and were presented with flowers, fruit and confectionery, while the girls sang national hymns.

At Palisade we were detained by the wreck of a cattle and freight train. Seven cattle were killed and one man injured.

This is a strange country, it rains here all the time and the wind blows like a cyclone.

Among the things which most interested me along the road were the fences built along the cuts to keep out the drifting snow. In some places there were as many as eight or ten, one behind the other. It must snow here in the winter.

We went through the Rockies in the night, so missed the best of the scenery. We took dinner at Terrace; there was no demonstration, nor was there anything to eat for that matter. We had supper at Ogden, and it was there that we encountered the first change of style. It was all strictly eastern. We took in the city and a pretty city it is. Many inquiries were made about our rough riding qualities. At Ogden the Utah boys joined us and we changed cars for Cheyenne. We took our next breakfast at a place called Rawlins, and were well treated. Shortly after leaving Laramie, where we ate dinner, we passed Ames Monument, the highest point on the Union Pacific road.

On the afternoon of the 16th, we reached Fort Russell, and were assigned barracks.

This seems to be a great sheep and cattle country. I saw thousands as we came through.

The so-called buffalo grass looks the same to me as the bunch grass around Reno, the only difference being that it is thicker and more luxuriant.

All along the road we were treated to all the fruit and candy we could eat, but you may be sure we don't get any more now. * * * * *

Although I had a great deal rather face Spanish guns than to make another parting with my parents and friends, I want you all at the train again when we arrive in Reno, enroute to Manila. Although we don't expect to see the worst, our lives are at hazard when we start for that far distant port and I can't see too much of the ones dearest to me. We expect to see hard service, but I don't think it is anything to face Spanish guns. The Spaniards are undoubtedly cowardly and poor shots.

Colonel Torrey says more is expected from this regiment than any other. We will ride to the front one thousand strong.

"What's the matter?" inquired the janitor.

Archbishop Temple!

Speaking of Archbishop Temple in the Lambeth conference, The St. James Gazette says: "It is well known that the utmost good feeling and unanimity prevailed at that historic gathering, but it is not perhaps surprising that some of the exotic prelates were at first a little astonished at the blunt, plain spoken straightforwardness of the archbishop. No doubt sometimes their lordships were told exactly what they had to do and how they were to do it with an absence of circumlocution which was entirely new to them, and one of the American bishops summed up his feelings upon the perhaps rather more than military decision of the present successor of St. Augustine in a highly successful epigram. 'I love that old man,' he said, with the characteristic Yankee drawl which even bishops upon the other side of the Atlantic rarely quite lose, 'but if he behaved like that in my country he would be shot.'"

OLYMPICS VS WHEELMEN.

The San Franciscans Too Speedy For The Nevadans.

The greatest wheeling event of the the season came off according to program on Sunday and as anticipated drew a large audience. The only drawback to the day was the inclemency of the weather which turned very cold in the afternoon and marred the pleasure of the day considerably.

The Olympic team arrived on the morning train and was at once taken in charge by a committee of Wheelmen and escorted to the Riverside where breakfast was served. The Olympics were serenaded at the train by the Wheelmen's Band.

The colors of the Reno Wheelmen viz, maroon and white, were displayed on every hand and nearly everyone wore the club colors. At about 10 o'clock a special from Virginia and Carson brought in three or four hundred excursionists and by noon crowds of people were on their way to the Fair Grounds. Fully 2,000 spectators were gathered at the track by 1:30, the hour set for the great 50-mile relay to begin.

The Olympics appeared on the quarter stretch dressed in racing costume of red and white and received hearty applause from the audience. They mounted their wheels and took a spin around the track and by that time the Reno boys were ready.

Stanley of the Reno club and Wing of the Olympics mounted their wheels and were off at the pistol shot and the great race begun. The five miles were neck and neck, Wing finally passing under the wire a wheel's length in advance of Stanley. Keddie of Reno and Smith of the Olympics took up the second relay. Both men were riding for life, Keddie making his first mile in 2:24 and leading Smith by several feet. Shortly after passing the score Smith fell and for a few seconds lay motionless but soon rallied and took after Keddie who by this time had made a gap of over a half mile. Smith was evidently hurt, but rode out his relay.

It was easily seen, however, that he was riding under difficulty. Keddie widened the gap to five-eights of a mile when the change of relays brought Thompson of Reno and Tantau of Olympics to the score. There was little change in the positions of the riders during this relay, then came Caughlin of Reno and Ward of the Olympics. Ward closed the gap over an eighth of a mile in the five-mile run, when Nash of Reno and Kroetze of the Olympics followed. The latter began to close the gap gradually from the start and by the end of the fourth mile passed Nash and took the pace.

Twenty-five miles of the race had been completed and the teams were again starting comparatively even. Eaton of Reno and Tucker of the Olympics took up the relay and quit on a slow race with honors even. Johnson of Reno and Bean of Olympics quickened the pace and went for first place, but it was neck and neck until the end of the fifth mile when Bean spurted and led under the wire by fifty feet. Everett of Reno and Bozio of Olympics were next in order, the latter slowly making distance against Everett and at the conclusion of their relay leading by three-eighths of a mile. Shaver of Reno and Kragness of Olympics took up the run, the latter making a slight gain, but Russ of the Olympics against Martin Simas widened the gap to a trifle over a half mile and finished the relay and race with this lead.

The following is the time of each rider for each five-mile relay:

Spindler and Loder's Palace of Sweets.

Messrs Spindler and Loder, two of Reno's live and popular young men will open the "Palace of Sweets" in their new store in the JOURNAL building. Elegant confectionary parlors have been fitted up and the finest of ice cream, ices, soda water and in fact all of the delicacies in the confectioner's art will be specialties.

Mr. Spindler is an experienced candy maker and there is nothing in this line but what can be furnished on the shortest notice in any quantity.

Charlie Loder is well known as a popular young man and he will have charge of the counters and sales department.

"The Palace of Sweets" will open this evening and the proprietors extend an invitation to the people generally and to the ladies especially to be present. Souvenirs will be a feature and no one should miss calling at the new store.

Now is the time that a cool glass of beer has an exhilerating effect. A mug of Anheuser at the Monarch is sure to strike the spot.

THE SCHOOL ELECTION.

The Old Board Continued in Office.

The election of School Trustees for Reno School District No. 10, passed off quietly yesterday. There were four candidates, or in fact two tickets, viz; Judge Webster for long term; M. E. Ward short term; L. A. Blakeslee for long term and W. L. Bechtel, short term. Messrs Webster and Ward being members of the present Board.

There was comparatively little electioneering and little interest manifested until late in the afternoon, when it having been discovered that few people knew an election was in progress, dodgers were distributed calling attention to the location of the polls and a few rustlers were started out to stir up the voters.

Three hundred and ten votes were cast divided as follows;

L. A. Blakeslee (long term)	78
W. L. Bechtel (short term)	76
Judge Webster (long term)	201
M. E. Ward (short term)	204
Scattering	29

This elects Messrs Webster and Ward and retains the old Board, which as expressed by the vote, is doubtless satisfactory to the people of Reno.

City Council.

The City Council met last evening, all present except Chairman Osburn, who was detained at home by the serious illness of Mr. Lemmon, his father-in-law.

Mr. Ryland was called to the chair and the minutes of last meeting were read and approved. Communications were read asking information regarding the bonds offered for sale and the plans of proposed water and light plant. These were placed on file.

J. N. Evans, as foreman of the Grand Jury, called attention to the dangerous character of the gallery stairs in McKissick's Opera House and the Council was requested to look into the matter and act accordingly.

A complaint was filed against the practice of hackmen and owners of public conveyances on occasions similar to last Sunday or other public holidays or in case of an alarm of fire, driving rapidly through the streets or highways within the city limits. The same was placed on file to be acted upon next meeting.

The City Attorney filed a report relative to the opening of Lake street through that portion of and belonging to the town of Reno and which Mr. J. N. Evans has fenced and has under cultivation. The City Attorney reported that Mr. Evans had agreed to open the street without cost to the city as soon as he cut the season's crop of hay now growing there. Messrs. Dean and Michel appeared as petitioners, praying that the street be opened immediately. The matter was taken under advisement.

Owing to the absence of Chairman Osburn, it was deemed advisable to postpone any further business until a full meeting of the Board could be held and an adjournment was ordered until next Monday night.

emarkable Rescue.

Mrs. Michael Curtain, Plainfield, Ill., makes the statement, that she caught cold, which settled on her lungs; she was treated for a month by her family physician, but grew worse He told her she was a hopeless victim of consumption and that no medicine could cure her. Her druggist suggested Dr King's New Discovery for consumption she bought a bottle and to her delight found herself benefitted from first dose. She continued its use and after taking six bottles, found herself sound and well; now does her own housework, and is as well as she ever was. Free trial bottle of this Great Discovery at S. J. Hodgkinson's Drug Store. Large bottles 50 cents and $1 00.

Offered a Captaincy.

Fred M. Linscott, acting Commandant at the University, was called to Carson by Governor Sadler yesterday and offered the Captaincy of the First Nevada Cavalry, U. S. Volunteers. Major Linscott asked for an hour or two to consider the matter, but the Governor said it must be decided at once. In the meantime the name of Lieutenant Saxton was suggested and telegraphic communication commenced with him. It was finally decided to await until 10 o'clock this morning for Saxton's reply and if he does not accept Linscott will. It is expected that the troop will start for Cheyenne this evening.

A GOOD SHOWING.

Less Than Ten Per Cent of the Volunteers Rejected.

Two companies of volunteers aggregating 167 men have been organized in Nevada for service in the Cavalry. Not over 9 per cent of the men who enrolled were rejected for physical defects. Several were too tall and were not accepted. A few were rejected because of defective eye sight caused by accidental injury to one or both eyes. The chest expansion of the men ranges from 2¼ to 3¾ inches, and only one man was rejected because of weak lungs, and he had not been in the State long enough to become a citizen.

No better advertisement for the healthfulness of Nevada climate could be made than the record of the physical examinations made of the volunteers. The men are full chested; clean limbed and wholly free from pulmonary diseases, and, no doubt, they will give a good account of themselves if the Board of Strategy gives them opportunity.

It is probable that the troop will leave for Cheyenne this evening where they will be mustered into the service by Major Wilhelm of the United States Army. When uniformed they may be ordered to Manila, but the instructions to the Captain are to report to the Adjutant General.

Robbed the Grave.

A startling incident, of which Mr. John Oliver of Philadelphia, was the subject, is narrated by him as follows: "I was in the most dreadful condition, My skin was almost yellow, eyes sunken, tongue coated, pain continually in back and sides, no appetite—gradual y growing weaker day by day. Three physicans had given me up. Fortunately, a friend advised trying 'Electric Bitters;' and to my great joy and surprise, the first bottle made a decided improvement, I continued their use for three weeks, and am now a well man. I know they saved my life, and robbed the grave of another victim," No one should fail to try them. Only 50 cts per bottle at S. J. Hodgkinson's Drug Store.

A Texas Steer.

The event of the season will be the engagement of Hoyt's great laugh producer, "A Texas Steer, at the Opera House this evening. This comedy, had a run of over 400 nights in New York, was spoken of as follows by the Mail and Express: "The first night at the Bijou last evening was notable for the enthusiasm of the audience. The famous run of 'A Texas Steer' at this same house seems only to have whetted the public appetite for more of it, and its cordial reception argues well for the people's appreciation of Mr. Hoyt's types of character and of the quite unusual excellence of this particular production."

Give Your Wife a Little Praise Once In Awhile and See How It Works.

"If husbands only knew, or, if knowing, only cared, how very much their words and manners affect the temperature of the home world, they would never by word or deed leave it enshrouded in gloom," argues Mrs. A. M. Marriott in an article entitled "Praise Your Wife" in Woman's Home Companion. "To most wives the husband is the sun around which every thought revolves. There is scarcely an instant in which his presence is not felt as she goes about her work or even when at rest. If she is preparing the meals, the way John likes this or that or some remark he has made about some article of food is recalled to mind. If she looks about her, she sees his hats and coats hanging on the hooks, and the hats invariably wear the same expression John's face wore when he left in the morning—a jolly, good humored look if he went away pleasant; if angry, a gruff, defiant, attend to your own business air takes the place of the so lately gentle pliable shapes in felt and fairly bristle with wrath over some trifle, but still enough to obscure the sun in the little world for many a weary day, perchance, ere it is seemingly forgotten.

"There is no true woman but will repay her husband over and over again for kind, thoughtful treatment. He is ready to call her childish, and she may seem so to him; but one thing is sure—a woman never forgets.

"All little deeds of love or thoughtfulness sown by his hand yield a certain and abundant harvest. She may love her home better than any other spot on earth, yet she sometimes gets so weary of the daily routine of never ending duties that fall to her lot that she cannot help an occasional feeling of envy for those who have more time for recreation, for going abroad, for all the little things dear to the heart of every woman, but which the stern hand of duty most effectually debars her from enjoying. Still, for all that, she would not for the whole world exchange places, even if she could, with any other woman, leaving home and John—dear old John—as the price of her freedom from care.

"If your wife has been a faithful and true wife to you, tell her so. Do not think it lowers your manliness any to let her know that she still has a place in your affections. She has toiled early and late for you and your children, through sickness and health, and self denial has grown to be her motto. It takes but little from her loved ones to make her happy, so do not begrudge her a word of praise now and then as her just reward, and of far more value to her starving heart than gold. There are some things which money can never buy, and wounds which it cannot heal, but love levels all obstacles, overcomes all difficulties and immeasurably sweetens life."

The Basis of Credit.

A man's past record, with but few exceptions, should determine the question of his eligibility for credit in the future. If he has been slow pay in the past, he will probably be slow pay in his next purchases. If he has been prompt and satisfactory, he will likely be the same again. As an instance I might mention a case which recently came under my notice. A trader who had gradually got to be slow and unsatisfactory was compelled to assign. His failure was not due to any misfortune such as fire or flood, but seemed the natural consequence of his incompetence and lack of management. A wholesale house which had been supplying him lost heavily, but compromised, and as he continued they still sold him, but on 30 days' time. For awhile he promptly attended to his payments, but after time he got slower and slower, and as he was a liberal buyer and his purchases were allowed to accumulate he soon owed a bill far larger than his means would warrant. As this dragged along for some years a compromise was granted upon this indebtedness also. Still he clung to his old creditor and again ordered goods, promising to send the money within 30 days. But his past record was too much even for so lenient a creditor. He was told plainly that he would get no more goods on credit and that if he ordered anything cash must accompany the order in every case. Now, a man of this stamp is a positive detriment to a man who pays his bills. After thus being refused credit by the old house he will try and get it elsewhere and no doubt will succeed. But if his record is known it should be a final answer to the question of granting him credit.—Hardware.

Black and White Effects.

Black and white effects again figure largely in the domain of both fashionable dress and millinery. Black and white silks, satins and brocades just brought from over the sea are set forth by leading importers. Black and white taffetas, surahs, failles and other fancy silks and liberty textiles appear. Black and white checks and plaids are being formed into stylish spring costumes by the fashionable dressmakers, and Frenchwomen are now wearing black and white satin brocade shirt waists with their stylish black cloth skirts. Waists of black and white or gray and white stripes or dots are always good style, whether made in the manner of the cotton shirt waists or with full fronts turned back with white revers over a tucked chemisette of fabric to match. A full blouse of cream white silk or satin, covered everywhere with a drapery or veiling merely of jetted black net, often proves the most becoming of all waists a slender woman of indifferent complexion can select. Sometimes cream ribbons matching the blouse are the most satisfactory additions she can make to the waist; again, a bow of soft pink or brilliant cerise satin works wonders of improvement.—New York

Clara—I wonder how Mrs. Youngling can have the face to always keep boasting about her family.

Romance of a Diamond.

At the beginning of the eighteenth century a soldier belonging to one of the French garrisons in India became enamored of the eyes of Brahma in the temple of Serringham. These eyes were diamonds, more brilliant than ever shone under the eyebrows of Crapaud's European divinities. Their luster captivated his soul. He haunted the temple and, yielding to the might of the god, became a convert to his worship. At least so he persuaded the priests, who went so far as to admit him to some care of the temple, doubtless trusting Brahma to protect his own. But on a stormy night the convert disappeared, and with him one of the idol's eyes, the other having resisted all his efforts to dislodge it. So Brahma was left squinting, and the perfidious Frenchman sold his prize to a captain in the English navy for about $10,000. Later it was bought by the Armenian merchant Schaffras for more than five times this sum and shown by him to Catherine of Russia, who offered for it about $400,000, a life pension of $18,000 and a patent of nobility. Schaffras refused this offer and subsequently sold the diamond to Gregory Orloff for the same sum without the patent of nobility. Orloff, part author of Catherine's greatness and raised by her to the steps of the throne, for whom she struck medals, raised triumphal arches and dedicated palaces "par l'amitie reconnaissante," to whom she offered secret marriage and whom in another caprice she banished—Count Gregory, being reinstated in favor, offered his imperial mistress two tokens of reconciliation, the St. Petersburg arsenal and the Orloff diamond.—Neith Boyce in Lippincott's.

A Compensating Condition.

"I deceived you about one thing," murmured the new wife to her husband. "I am older than I told you."

"Don't mention it, my angel. I find that your fortune is fully twice as large as I had supposed."—Detroit Free Press.

IN THE SECOND JUDICIAL DISTRICT Court of the State of Nevada, in and for Washoe county.

The State of Nevada sends to Tena M. Abbott, Greeting:—

You are hereby required to appear in an action commenced against you as defendant by M. L. Abbott as plaintiff in the Second Judicial District Court of the State of Nevada, in and for the County of Washoe, and answer the complaint therein within ten days after the service on you of this Summons (exclusive of day of service), if served in said county, or twenty days if served out of said county, but within said District, and in all other cases forty days; or judgement by default will be taken against you according to the prayer of said complaint. The action is brought to obtain a decree of divorce from the defendant above named upon the ground of desertion, said desertion having begun on or about October 1st, in the year 1895, and continued to the date of filing complaint herein as will more fully appear by reference to a copy of the complaint herein, a copy of which is herewith served and is hereby referred and made a part hereof.

All of which will more fully appear from the Complaint, which is on file in the office of the Clerk of said Court, at Reno, in said county, and to which you are especially referred. And you are further notified that if you fail to appear and answer said complaint, the said plaintiff will apply to the Court for the relief demanded.

In testimony whereof, I have hereunto set my hand and affixed the Seal of said Court, at Reno, this 25th day of April, A. D 1898.

(SEAL.)

F. B. PORTER,
Clerk of the Second Judicial District Court of the State of Nevada, in and for Washoe County.

SUMMONS.

IN THE SECOND JUDICIAL DISTRICT Court of the State of Nevada, in and for Washoe county. The State of Nevada sends to Giovanni Rossi, greeting: You are hereby required to appear in an action commenced against you as defendant by Charles L. Knox as plaintiff in the Second Judicial District Court of the State of Nevada, in and for the County of Washoe and answer the complaint therein within ten days after the service on you of this Summons (exclusive of day of service), if served in said county, or twenty days if served out of said county, but within said District, and in all other cases forty days; or judgment by default will be taken against you according to the prayer of said complaint. The action is brought to recover a judgment against you for the sum of eight hundred dollars, being an amount due, owing and remaining unpaid by you for alimony at the rate of $25 per month from the 1st day of May, 1895, to the 1st day of January, 1898, by virtue of a judgment and decree made and entered in the Superior Court of the City and County of San Francisco, State of California, on the 9th day of May, 1895, in a suit for divorce instituted against you by Rosa Rossi, which said amount for alimony, was, for value, duly assigned by said Rosa Rossi to J. J. Bauer of San Francisco, California, on the 28th day of December, 1897, and by him, for value, duly assigned to Charles L. Knox of Reno, Nevada, the plaintiff herein, on the 3rd day of January, 1898. And of which will more fully appear from the complaint, which is on file in the office of the Clerk of said Court, at Reno, in said county, and to which you are especially referred, and you are further notified that if you fail to appear and answer said complaint, the said plaintiff will take judgment for said amount besides interest and costs of suit.

In testimony whereof, I have hereunto set my hand and affix the seal of said Court, at Reno, this 16th day of February, A. D. 1898.

SUMMONS.

IN THE SECOND JUDICIAL DISTRICT Court of the State of Nevada, in and for Washoe county. The State of Nevada sends to Samuel M. Bowen, Greeting:—

You are hereby required to appear in an action commenced against you as defendant by Mary E. Bowen as plaintiff in the Second Judicial District Court of the State of Nevada, in and for the County of Washoe, and answer the complaint therein within ten days after service on you of this Summons (exclusive of day of service), if served in said county, or twenty days if served out of said county, but within said District, and in all other cases forty days; or judgment by default will be taken against you according to the prayer of said complaint. The action is brought to recover a decree of judgment for a divorce from the bonds of matrimony existing between plaintiff and defendant, the substance of the complaint being that plaintiff has resided in Washoe county 6 months and more before suit commenced; that they intermarried January 1st, 1895, in said county; that defendant willfully deserted plaintiff more than one year before suit—without cause, and has deserted her ever since; that defendant neglected to provide plaintiff with the common necessaries of life for one year and more last before suit begun, when such neglect was not the result of poverty on the part of defendant which he could not have avoided by ordinary industry; that they have no children living; that defendant has no property; that plaintiff prays to be restored to her maiden name, Mary Elizabeth Harden, and to be divorced from the bonds of matrimony existing between her and defendant. All of which will more fully appear from the complaint, which is on file in the office of the Clerk of said Court, at Reno, in said county, and to which you are especially referred. And you are further notified that if you fail to appear and answer said complaint, the said plaintiff will apply to the Court for the relief demanded in her complaint.

In testimony whereof, I have hereunto set my hand at Reno, this 15th day of April, A. D. 1898

THOS. E HAYDON,
Attorney for Plaintiff.

STATE LAND OFFICE,
CARSON CITY, NEVADA,
April 9, 1898.

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN THAT THE State of Nevada, under the Act of Congress approved June 16, 1880, (21 Stats. 287), has filed in the United States Land Office at Carson City, Nevada, List No. 216 of lands so selected under said Act, and has applied for a patent for said lands; that a part of said list is open to the public for inspection, and a copy thereof, by descriptive subdivisions, has been posted in a convenient place in said United States Land Office for the inspection of all persons interested and the public generally.

Within the next sixty days following the date of this notice protests or contests against the claim of said State of Nevada to any tract or sub-division described in the list, on the ground that the same is more valuable for mineral than agricultural purposes, will be received and noted by the Register and Receiver of the United States Land Office at Carson City, Nevada, for report to the General Land Office at Washington, D. C.

The following are the sub-divisions described, to-wit: S½ of SE¼, Sec. 12, and NW¼ of NE¼, sec. 13, T. 24 N., R. 18 E., M. D. B. & M., 240 acres.
